This Is Where You Come In . . .

Cheryl Ramberg Ford and
Allyn Ford Alumni Center
Opening June 2011

We hope you will join your fellow Ducks this June as we proudly open the doors to the University of Oregon's Ford Alumni Center.

It will be the most exciting facility of its kind, a first at the UO, and the first in the nation with interactive media built into its architecture as a way to surround visitors with the essence of Oregon.

This gleaming new front door to the university, the centerpiece of the new east gateway, is located right beside the Matthew Knight Arena.

More than two-thirds of the $33.6 million construction cost is covered by gifts from people like you. The rest, $9.75 million in state bonds, will be repaid through building leases and related income.

Building Highlights

- The premier gathering place for alumni, prospective students, visitors, pregame activities, and much more
- Headquarters for the UO Alumni Association, Foundation, Office of Development, and Student Orientation Programs—critical entities that work together to advance the university's mission and expand its resources
- Launch point for student recruitment tours and information sessions (more than 17,000 visitors annually)
- Showcase for the UO's history, traditions, and achievements
- Host for conferences

Be a Part of It!

We have less than $400,000 left to reach our fundraising goal.

Your gift can put us over the top.

Every gift matters and every gift will be recognized in the Ford Alumni Center.

Help put the finishing touches on this exciting new campus landmark!

- Act now
- Honor your heritage
- Invest in the university's future
